Romford Roars Dinosaur Trail and Extra Dino Fun at Town's Shopping Centres

Romford BID is pleased to announce that its FREE Romford Roars Dinosaur Trail has begun. Visitors of all ages can explore 18 incredible life-sized dinosaur brick-built models, built from hundreds of thousands of toy bricks, from Saturday 29th March to Tuesday 22nd April, at key locations throughout the town. Plus, there will be a host of exciting dino inspired fun at the town's shopping centres for visitors to enjoy too.

The trail will showcase iconic dinosaurs, including a towering Triceratops, a gigantic Iguanodon, and a majestic Stegosaurus. Young explorers can also discover a herd of cute baby dinosaurs and learn fascinating facts about these ancient creatures. Plus, visitors are invited to take a selfie with the giant dinosaur footprint located along the trail!

These amazing brick-built dinosaurs will be on display at The Brewery, The Liberty, The Mercury Mall, Romford Shopping Hall, and select stores around the town centre. A free trail map will be available at various locations throughout Romford and available to download from the Romford BID website to help guide explorers on their adventure. Those who complete the trail and submit the form correctly will have the chance to win a dinosaur-themed hamper (the grand prize), chocolate Easter eggs, or a dinosaur-themed gift (runner-up prizes).

The Mercury Mall will be holding Dinosaur-themed art workshops, suitable for children aged 6 and up, between 11.00am to 1.00pm and 2.00pm to 4.00pm on Saturday 12th April, Sunday 13th April, Friday 18th April, and Saturday 19th April. Each session will cost only £5.00 to attend. The Brewery has also arranged some sweet dino fun. Between Saturday 5th and Sunday 20th April, visitors to The Brewery can enjoy a FREE sweet treat bag when visiting participating stores displaying a dinosaur vinyl.
